REV JOHN FLYNN

THE ROBIN MILLER
SOCIETY

The greatest gift

A legacy which continues.

A gift that keeps on giving.

In 1928, John Flynn's dream finally became a reality through a generous Gift in Will contribution thanks to Hugh Victor McKay which helped secure the first aircraft of the Royal Flying Doctor service, named 'Victory'.

From this one Gift, the Royal Flying Doctor Service (RFDS) has grown from one plane, one pilot and one doctor to a national wide service delivering emergency medical and primary health services.

Today, Gifts in Wills to the Flying Doctor are one of our greatest sources of funding. The generosity of our supporters make it possible for us to provide medical care and attention to those who need it wherever they are.

As we look to the future, our needs will continue to evolve in both the services we provide and the way in which they are delivered. A Gift in your Will to the RFDS (Western Operations) will allow us to continue our life-changing primary health care, emergency retrieval and patient transport services.

No matter the size of the Gift, every ounce of support is greatly valued and makes a life changing difference.

Making a Will brings peace of mind

It is a fact that many Australians do not have a valid Will.

Making a Will can give you peace of mind and is a way to show you care about family members and friends you love and those who have been important to you. It can give you comfort, knowing that your special wishes have been made clear and that you've made provision for them.

Many people choose to support good causes in their lifetime. Leaving a Gift in your Will is a way to keep making a difference after you are gone.

The decision to leave a Gift in your Will of any size is a simple and powerful way to making a difference to someone's life in the future, at no cost to you today.

We understand that making a decision to leave a Gift in your Will is a very personal one and not everyone wishes to tell us of their intentions. A Gift in your Will to the Royal Flying Doctor Service can help save lives. It would mean so much to the Flying Doctor to know that we have your kind support.

"Saving lives is what it's all about! The Royal Flying Doctor Service saves lives and by including them in my Will, it is one of the ways I feel I can continue to support this vital organisation into the future."

Robin Miller Flight Nurse and Pilot

A life of service and adventure

Robin's achievements during her short lifetime were remarkable. As a pioneering female pilot who combined her passion for flying with nursing, Robin made many valuable contributions to both aviation and medicine. Robin did it all - a pilot, flying nurse and aircraft engineer with the skills and bravery to retrieve many patients solo!

Robin is best known as the 'Sugar Bird Lady' as she came to be called by Aboriginal communities in WA's remote North West. When a second wave of polio hit Western Australia in the late 1960s, Robin saw a great risk of the disease for people living in remote WA and began an immunisation program, flying to isolated communities to deliver vaccine doses on a sugar cube. Although the Sabin vaccine had been available for a decade, the tyranny of distance in WA had prevented immunisations for those living far from town.

Robin borrowed money to purchase an aircraft especially for this purpose, then became both pilot and nurse to deliver the immunisation program on the ground.

Robin visited about 450 remote towns and communities and flew more than 43,000 miles (69,200 kms) to administer more than 37,000 vaccines.

Robin had a vast knowledge of the North West, having spent a great deal of time living and travelling in the region during her childhood and as an adult.

She worked as a flying nurse at the Royal Flying Doctor Service - Western Australia between 1970 and 1975.

Robin Elizabeth Miller was born in Perth in 1940 to two well-known Western Australians, author and historian Dame Mary Durack and Captain Horrie Miller, a pioneering aviator and co-founder of MacRobertson Miller Airways.

Robin trained as a nurse at Royal Perth Hospital, where she graduated with the State Nurses' Medical Prize in 1962. During her nursing training, Robin also found the time to attain her commercial pilot licence.

After graduating, Robin spent much of her life in the air in the 1960s and 70s. As well as working as a flying nurse, she flew several RFDS aircraft on epic voyages from Europe and the USA back to Western Australia, including a solo journey from Paris to Perth. Robin was also an avid competitor, participating in air races including the All Women's Transcontinental Air Race across the United States, known as the Powder Puff Derby, in 1973.

In the same year, she married Harold Dicks, a director of the Royal Flying Doctor Service.

Robin won several awards including the Nancy Bird Walton Award for Australia's Woman Pilot of the Year, a Diploma of Merit in Italy, the Brabazon Cup from the Women's Pilots' Association of Great Britain and the Paul Tissandier Diploma - Federation Aeronautique Internationale. The last two were awarded posthumously.

Robin passed away in December 1975 aged 35 and was laid to rest in Broome.

Robin's courageous attitude, outstanding achievements and distinguished career continue to inspire people from all walks of life and particularly those in the RFDS. Her legacy lives on in the community health programs that continue to be delivered to remote communities throughout Western Australia.
